THE C. N. R. CROSSING

WILL BE AT FORT SASKATCHEWAN.

Delegates from the town of Fort Saskatchewan return bringing good news.

Messrs. J. W. Shera M. L. A. and Dr. Aylen, delegates from Fort Saskatchewan to Ottawa returned last evening, the third delegate W. D. Lees remaining at the capital for a few days.

The purpose of the delegation was two fold, to get the Federal Government to grant a portion of the R. N. W. M. P. reserve at Fort Saskatchewan to the C. N. R. for station site and yards and secondly to get the government to co-operate with the C. N. R. and make the proposed bridge across the river at the Fort a combined railway and traffic bridge.

The returned delegates are confident that both these purposes have been gained. The government assured them that the necessary land would be granted and the C. N. R. authorities that the station would be built on the site for some time suggested and not more than four hundred feet east of Government street.

Paul Paradis, the Dominion government engineer, came up from Calgary with the delegates. He came up for the purpose of inspecting for acceptance the location which the Canadian Northern Railway have made for their steel bridge at the Fort.

The bridge is to be of steel, with four 190 foot spans and concrete piers. The level of the bridge above low water is 42 feet.

Mr. Paradis thinks that the site which has been chosen for the bridge is one of the best in the Dominion, and the bridge will be ahead of anything in the Northwest at the present time.

The government is contemplating, if the matter can be arranged, to build the bridge in partnership with the railway company, and construct a combination railway and public passenger bridge.

The bridge will be located opposite Mr. Cascarden's farm just west of the town.

The delegates were definitely informed that the bridge at the Fort would be for the main line which will thus enter Edmonton from the north east.

While in Ottawa the delegates kindly joined forces with the Edmonton delegation in pushing the claims of Edmonton for the position of capital.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

ON A CHARGE OF MURDER.

Preliminary Hearing in the King Murder Case was Concluded this Morning.

Before inspector Worsley this morning Charles King was committed for trial at the next available sittings of the supreme court in Edmonton, charged with the murder of E. Hayward at Lesser Slave Lake.

The concluding session of the court before which the preliminary hearing has been conducted was brief, only one witness being called. J. Harper of Ross Bros. said he recollected two men having outfitted at the store during August last for trapping and gold washing. He recognized the prisoner as one of the two men and from a photograph identified Hayward as the other.

Witness last saw the two men about twenty five miles northwest of Edmonton where he passed them on the road enroute north.

C. de W. MacDonald announced that the Crown had closed the case. On behalf of the prisoner Mr. Biggar said the defence would call no witnesses and that the accused had nothing to say. The charge of murder was then read to the prisoner and he was committed to be tried by the Supreme Court.

The preliminary hearing in the murder case Rex versus King was resumed before Insp. Worsley in the city police court room yesterday afternoon.

The President in moving the adoption of the report, said:—

The report of your Directors exhibits so clearly the results of the last year's business and the financial position of the Company that it will not be necessary for me in moving its adoption to more than indicate its leading features.

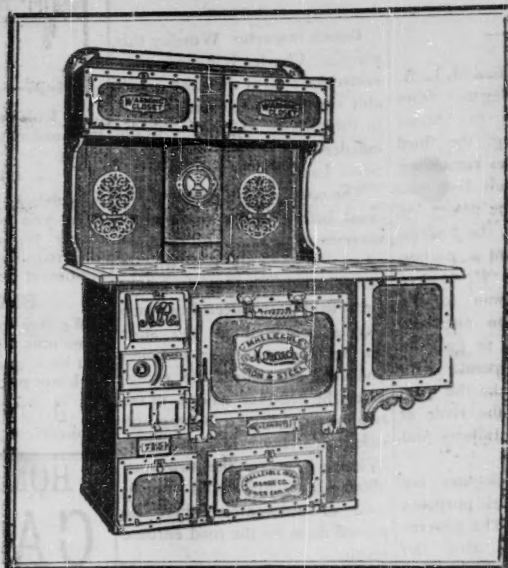

The earnings, amounting to the net sum of $92,620.90, show an increase of $3,260.96 over the record of the previous year and represent over 9½ per cent. upon the Company's capital stock. In this connection

MONARCH RANGE...

There is no question as to what this Range can do or its durability, as thousands and thousands of them are in use on this continent, and so far as we have been able to learn no fault has yet been found with them.

The main body of this Range is built up of sheet steel, and all the other parts that require to be cast are malleable iron. The top is ground to a bright steel finish, and is so heavy that, no matter how long or how hot you heat it, you cannot make it warp or get out of shape.

You will notice that the oven has a drop door, and the above cut illustrates the strength of this door, as any man can stand on it when it is open without straining it in the least. This will give some idea of the strength of the Stove, as all its parts are as strong as this cut of the oven door open with the salesman standing on it would convey to you.

It is a wonderful baker, a very quick heater, and its water front is so constructed that it will heat water nearly twice as quick and on a much less quantity of fuel than any other Range now on the market.

The purchaser of a MONARCH RANGE insures a satisfaction that cannot be measured in dollars and cents, for at the end of ten years' use it will operate as easily and be just as good as when first started.

Remember the MONARCH when you want to purchase a Range.

Ross Bros. Ltd.

NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY MEETING.

it may be interesting to note for the purposes of comparison the net earnings for the past four years during which period the shares of the company have been fully paid. The figures are as follows:

1901.....	$78,097.01	1902.....	$89,206.05
1903.....	$89,359.94	1904.....	$92,629.90

In disposing of the earnings for the year your Directors after paying 6 per cent. dividend, has added the sum of $30,000.00 to Reserve, which has now reached the substantial sum of $350,000.00. With regard to the General Statement presented for your consideration, you will observe that it has been divided into three parts, the first showing the Company's own assets and liabilities; the second, funds received by the Company for investment under its guarantee and the securities held in trust therefor, and the third, the aggregate of estates and trust and agency funds received and of assets and investments held in connection with the various administrations, executorships, trusteeships and agencies now being carried on by the company.

With regard to the assets held for Capital and Guaranteed Trust Accounts, I may say briefly that the mortgages are of a uniformly excellent character and that the interest payments both here and in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories have been exceptionally well met; that such stocks as we own are not only high grade and listed, but stand on our books at figures lower than their value on the Exchange; that our bonds and debentures are those of Railway, Traction, and Electrical Companies and of municipalities whose security is absolute and that we have always found loans upon approved collateral with substantial margin a profitable and convenient form of temporary investment of the Company's own funds or such trust or agency funds as we are specially authorized to invest in this way.

It will doubtless be gratifying to the shareholders to note that the total assets under administration by the Company now aggregate nearly $8,000,000.00.

Your Directors make grateful acknowledgement of the services rendered to the Company by the advisory Board at Winnipeg and the resident Directors of Montreal, and to the staff at the several offices of the Company for the efficient discharge of their duties during the year.

I beg to move, seconded by Mr. Z. A. Lash, the adoption of the report.

A vote of thanks to the General Manager and staff of company was passed, after which the following were elected Directors of the Company for the ensuing year:

ANOTHER BOO'ET FOR EDMONTON.

The Calgary papers take the announcement of Edmonton as the temporary capital of Alberta with characteristic spirit.

The Herald, ever a blithe and jocular journal, expresses its disdain in a brief local to the effect that this city is no place for the capital because the Bulletin published an article on the dog question. The Herald of course is free from the charge of having alluded to any question of this nature, its time having been occupied or a month past in nothing less than an exemplification of the historic canine which took up its abode in a manger.

The Albertan however subject of late to chronic Edmontonphobia, broke out last week in a series of spasms of daily increasing severity and grew steadily worse until Tuesday last when the culmination came in this violent outburst headed "Edmonton's Cowardice."

"The people of Alberta will not soon forget the cowardice of Edmonton in this contest for the capital of the new province."

"The people of Alberta will remember for some time to come that there is one city in this land which has no confidence in the citizens thereof."

"The attitude of Edmonton in desiring to limit the powers of the new province at the very morning of its existence is not only unfair but it is unpatriotic. It is not only cowardly, but it is traitorous."

"The people of Alberta are endeavoring at the present time to secure from the Dominion Government as good a settlement of affairs, as favorable terms as possible, and they are to be commended for the attitude and the efforts in this direction. But the Edmonton people have despatched a deputation to Ottawa asking the administration to restrict the powers of the new province, to destroy one of the most sacred rights of a province, that is to have the choice of the selection of a capital, the right to have the say in the spending of the money raised by the people themselves, a right for which the British people fought and died."

"The action of the people of Edmonton is one of the most despicable in the history of provinces."

"It will be one of the surprises of the age if the Dominion administration can be hypnotized into granting the request that has been asked."

The Albertan bases its remarks on the assumption that Edmonton asked the Federal Government to establish this city as the permanent capital and the fact that Edmonton did nothing of the kind disturbs not the complaisance of that journal.

Now that the question is settled and settled according to the claims of Edmonton this quotation is interesting to Bulletin readers only as an illustration of the bad temper and worse morals of the Albertan.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Capt. Strickland testified that the bedding of the prisoner Chas. King had been brought down from Lesser Slave Lake by Constable Low and turned over to Sergt-Major Emery at Port Saskatchewan. The bedding was kept locked in a room in the barracks and was there until, except some portions which he had cut from a quilt and sent to Toronto for examination. Witness had examined the bedding with Sergt-Major Emery and Corp. Rockwell on Nov. 19. On one part of the quilt he had found a large stain of what appeared to him to be blood. Sinking to this several coarse hairs which he believed to be from a human being after examining them with a magnifying glass.

Close to the large old ward two other stains which had every appearance of being blood. Another large stain was found on another part of the quilt which might or might not have been a blood stain.

The four stained portions had been cut from the quilt enclosed in marked envelopes and sent to Toronto for examination.

Witness was shown four envelopes which he identified as those in question. The contents of the envelopes pieces of cloth appeared to be of the same texture as the quilt, though the chemist's treatment had bleached the color from them.

The presiding magistrate stated that the Court had already heard enough evidence to convict the prisoner and commit him for trial. He said that new evidence if necessary would be admitted but corroborative evidence could not further be allowed.

Mr. McDonald said the crown was supposed to present all the evidence to the court that the prisoner might know of or against him but that only new evidence would be introduced.

J. Haydon of the Edmonton hotel was called. He recognized the prisoner as a man who had come to his hotel in August in the company of E. Hayward. The two men had come in on the train and stayed at his hotel five days. They roomed together and were always together. Shown a photograph of two men, witness at once recognized one of the parties as Hayward. The two men had left their trunks at the hotel when they left, saying they were going to Peace River prospecting. They had four horses the last day they were at the hotel and when they left had all of their outfit on the horse. Hayward had showed witness a shot gun and rifle. A page from the hotel register was produced and identified by the witness who said Hayward and King had signed thereon in his presence. They had a small dog and Hayward had him on chain and collar he had purchased for it. Witness identified the dog and chain previously put in as an exhibit in this case. Two trunks were here produced by the crown and identified by witness as those left by the two men at his hotel.

J. L. Levesque was called. He runs a butcher shop in St. Albert. In August, last, one day two men with some pork bones had passed through the village and he had talked with them about trading for one of the bones. He did not recognize the prisoner but thought one of the men had a beard. The bones captured with King's outfit were brought around and witness identified the one he had wished to trade for.

Mrs. Catherine Schulz was called. She now resides in Calgary but formerly lived on the H. near the Dowling mill. She identified King's dog as one she raised and had given to a man his name. The prisoner was not the man she thought he was larger than King.

Henry Fraser of McDougall & Son's staff was called. He recognized the prisoner as one of two men who came to him last August enquiring about purchasing some pack horses. He identified the photo of Hayward as that of the other man. Hayward had conducted the negotiation in the presence of King which led up to the purchase from witness of four pack horses for $55. Witness identified the horses bought by the police as those he had sold. He had afterward seen the two men leaving town, each leading two pack ponies. Had also sold them a few pounds of shot.

R. Kenneth of Edmonton was the next witness called. Witness testified to having sold two men who were in his store a suit of a sewing machine and a needle. He identified two of the men as the prisoner and said that the other was the one that did the buying.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

James York of Edmonton next came on the stand and testified to having been present when Henry Fraser sold the four horses to two men one of whom he identified as the prisoner. He also recognized Hayward from a photograph which was shown him.

Next witness was J. E. Clark, a saddler of Edmonton. He claims to have seen prisoner in his shop one day last fall in company with another man whom he identifies as Hayward. They bought some pack saddles, the larger man meaning Hayward, making all the purchases. He identifies the pack saddles sold by King to Morin as the ones he sold to Hayward.

Mr. Polerley, an employee of J.E. Clark's saddlery was next called and testified to having seen the two men designated in Clark's testimony, and of having seen the man he identifies as Hayward buy the four pack saddles. He claimed to have heard the two men talking and Hayward calling the prisoner by the name of Charley several times in a very familiar manner.

The next witness called by the prosecution was Harry Bell who being in the Peace River country was not available.

Joe A. McLean was then called and testified to having seen the prisoner last fall in McLaughlin & Scord's fur store. He denied Hayward's picture and claims to have talked with him quite a bit. Remembers having seen a nugget pin worn by Hayward. This pin was found by Sgt. Anderson in the slough near the scene of the King and Hayward camp.

The next witness called was George Morin whose home is near Lesser Slave Lake. He is a man who knows more about King since the supposed murder of Hayward than anyone else. King stayed at his place for several days and was there at the time of his arrest. His story briefly is as follows: "One day last September I was at the Hudson Bay Co. post and met the man with whom I held a conversation. I asked him where he came from and he said he came from Edmonton by the way of the Swan Hills. I told him that he did remarkably well to come that way alone and he said that he had a partner with him but that he had turned back. Told me he wanted to sell his outfit and go back himself being very short of money. I left him, returning to my home, where he came the following day, offering to sell me his outfit. I told him that at present I couldn't, not having enough ready money but I told him where I thought he could. He left but came back again the same evening, saying that he wouldn't take the outfit for the price I offered to bring the outfit over to me to let me see it. This he did, and asking for a place to stay for a couple of days. I gave him the use of one of my houses. He stayed here two days, continually importuning me to buy the outfit. Finally I told him I would give him $250 for everything just as it was giving him $4 down to bind the bargain and the balance before the boat left for Edmonton. He stayed with me four days and on Sunday Sgt. Anderson of the R.N.W.M.P. and Constable Law came over to my place and held a conversation with King. In the course of it the Sgt. said, addressing King, 'I heard that you had a partner, who you?' King replied 'No no, that I know of.' 'But you had somebody with you on the Peace River trip?' queried Anderson. 'Yes,' replied King 'for the four days, another man was with me. A man that I caught up with on the trip and who camped with me one night on the Peace River. The next morning for Surgeon Lake.' 'Do you know who he was?' asked the Sgt. 'No, I don't know any thing about him,' replied King. 'Sgt. Anderson left them but returned the following day when they arrested King on the charge of having murdered his companion.' The prisoner had told witness that the train was to late for trapping. He had no further conversation with him regarding his partner or his intentions.

Cross examined by Mr. Byrge witness said that he had bought prisoner's outfit which had stayed with him.

Court adjourned until 10 a.m. today.

FOR THE DUKE'S ASSASSINATION

The Metropolitan of Moscow Creates a Sensation - Russian Affairs
Generally.

Bulletin Special.

Moscow, Feb. 24th.—The funeral of the Grand Duke Sergius passed off without any further tragic incidents. The ceremony was impressive. The Metropolitan of Moscow created profound uneasiness in his burial address by placing the crime of the Duke's assassination at door of the whole of Russian society. His remark is said to be ill-timed, considering the state of the country. Strikes are continuing or commencing in all parts. In the Caucasus affairs are particularly bad. Huge reinforcements of military are inadequate to prevent a continuance of robbery, murder and terrorism. Much damage is being done to railways, plants, rolling stock, and equipment. It is said the Black sea fleet is bombarding Poti where 100,000 Georgians are on strike. Sea ship and train service has been discontinued from there and the wires are damaged.

A REMARKABLE DREAM.

In conversation with a BULLETIN reporter today Henry Hayward the brother of the supposedly murdered Hayward told a very curious story one that many psychologists admit is possible and that frequently occurs but which hardly seems in the realm of the reasonable to the most of the people. His story briefly told was as follows:—

"One night last fall while I was sleeping in my home near North Edmonton, England, I dreamed a dream which greatly startled me and which left a deep impression that was only too soon confirmed, that my brother had been murdered! In my dream I could see my brother lying upon the ground and a tall dark handsome man standing over him with a gun in his hand. Suddenly I heard the report of a gun and my brother's voice just as plainly as I ever heard it when he

EDMONTON AND THE FAIR.

Editor Bulletin:

Edmonton and surrounding country is rejoicing these days having received word from Ottawa that the capital would be placed here for a time and we hope permanently. We farmers in the country are glad to see Edmonton being made the Capital as we consider we have had as much to do with putting Edmonton to the front as those who are living there and we like to see the men of Edmonton be men with good foresight. Edmonton as it were has just come out of boyhood and entered manhood and it becomes them now to act the man and lay the boy away.

There is one thing the people of Edmonton must not forget—that is what supports them—the farming country around them. If they be negligent as not to do their part in helping to educate the people of the country which supports them they will see their folly when too late and in this case we may not have to wait long.

Now the brightest star in Edmonton's crown is her show fair. Her fairs have been a credit being admittedly known as the best west of Winnipeg and one worthy of paying a long railway fare to go and see. But Mr. Editor, what we saw and learned did not end there. The farmers of the country had their stock there and were interested and in the show ring they were shown where their stock lacked in quantity and quality. This knowledge they took home and are making use of today. Whereas ten years ago it an animal had head and tail it was all right—now a buyer or farmer coming to your yard, he begins to look out points and if your animal has not then he goes on to the fair of Edmonton what does this mean to you? It means a great deal. It means a cash business to you. We have more cattle in this country now than is wanted to supply you with beef. The consequences are then, are our own cattle fit to ship? If so alright. If not we are at a standstill with our minds disgusted because we cannot pay our way and keep up with the times. Other people remark that we do the business because we relax our energies. But people of Edmonton your fight has only begun and the best you can do is to look out and see that your own machinery is in good shape and well greased—otherwise do your part to assist the farmer, your main support to put him in shape and feed him on the information that will enable him to compete with his produce with any country in the world.

It is rumored in the country that we are going to have no show fair this year and the farmers are dropping the idea of one going to be held and all are asking what is the matter. All were pleased with the fairs we have had and looked forward to this as the great event of the season. We understand that the directors of the Edmonton Industrial Exhibition Association have made the city an offer but, it is so as if this offer has not been entertained very wisely.

It seems that it is undecided whether it would be legal or not for the town to buy this property. The cities of Calgary, Brandon, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Quebec all own their grounds and buildings. Can the council of Edmonton find out how they got them, or who made the purchase of the grounds to them? The city of Brandon have had an influential deputation wait on its city council for a grant of $10,000 and also the Manitoba provincial Government for another $10,000 to carry on its annual fair this year (1905).

These amounts if I am right, informed would be two thirds of what the directors want for forty acres of ground and fifteen thousand dollars worth of buildings and good as new to go. The directors are business men who have the welfare of the country at heart and make this offer to the city so that the fair shall be an assured thing. And the men of the city council of Edmonton do not need to peer through their spectacles very deeply to see it, nor the people of the city either.

Let the ground go and where are you going to go, as good and as excellent. Go on, to Red Creek where the land is cheap and the if a shower of rain comes on you, or a truck here are you? Compare your loss, loss at Winnipeg, how flat and muddy and unhealthy. Here we have a ground that even nature adorns in every way.

Now Mr. Editor, my letter is long but, I feel I must add a little more. I understand that the City of Calgary granted fifteen thousand dollars for new buildings for 1904 or last year. That is the way to do business. Their eyes are open and their support. Let the people of Edmonton assist their council to do what is best for this subject and let them be true to their motto. Edmonton Every Enterprise. Signed, FARMER.

SUGGESTS A REMEDY.

Editor Bulletin:

Dear Sir—I was pleased to see your letter and also the letter of "Yet Another Farmer" in your paper.

I think that matters of such importance to the community at large should receive some attention from the city council, Board of Trade and every merchant and resident in the city.

It is patent to everyone that the farmer is not getting fair prices for his produce, in fact they spell ruin and must compel the shutting down of the hog industry at least until something is done.

Farmers in their present condition are not expected to have anything to do with the pricing of their goods, should they then be expected to suggest a remedy to turn unprofitable prices profitable? Surely amongst your gifted aldermen, your learned professional men and your acute merchants some solution should be forthcoming to solve a problem which is to benefit them to such an extent. Yet as nothing is forthcoming I venture to make a suggestion.

The creameries have governmental help and support and read that in one or two instances the collection and sale of eggs at these establishments have done much to help the production and prices of same—would not it be possible to persuade the authorities to add pork packing to the undertaking? The experimenting and professional knowledge of this art is amongst the specific features of the department as the Special Bulletin on the subject bears out. This being the case if the influence of the gentlemen were brought to bear would it not be possible that pork packing would be added to the creamery undertaking, worked on the same lines as the creamery, a nominal price paid on receipt of hogs and balance on the sale of the finished article.

Under such expert management there should be no difficulty in realizing high prices for the goods—acted out as in the case of their butter—of course there is the matter of by-products. This however seems to be successfully overcome in Ontario and Chicago and under the able direction of such a man as say Professor Robertson, such an undertaking would no doubt be successful.

Or failing this a government cold storage would be of the greatest assistance to the farmer. Hogs when ready for market must be marketed or they are losing in value and added expense to their production. Now if the farmer could have his hogs dressed and put into a cold storage at a low charge he could keep them until such a time as the price was good—this not only refers to hogs but beef, poultry, eggs and butter.

Another matter which seems to require immediate attention is that of a market, bull and market day or days each week. Under the present spasmodic hawking it is simply ruinous to both the producer and the store keeper. A market place and days every week would bring the farmers' wares direct to the consumers, who would then have the opportunity of buying just what they want and thereby the stopping of hawking the storekeepers would then have an opportunity of selling on other days of the week.

I think Mr. Editor, it was more acknowledged that the city people realized what in meant by bad and good prices to the farmer as affecting themselves there would be a little more sympathy and help from them and if these letters have any effect in this direction they will do more to help forward immigration and to build up a bigger city than thousands of pamphlets and other expensive means.

Thanking you for your space, I am Sir,

ANOTHER FARMER.

The drama is based on the war between United States and Spain. This will be its first production in the Northwest. The members of the cast are the same as played "The Confederate Spy" here a short time ago which met with such great success and the theatre-going public of Edmonton may look forward to another treat.
